This is to acknowledge that

Benjamin Saidu Koroma

Attended a one-hour webinar and Q&A session entitled

How smarter data management and machine-learning-driven design of experiments accelerate formulation development

June 29, 2026

Key learning objectives:

- How unified platforms replace fragmented, spreadsheet-based formulation workflows
- How AED applies machine learning to optimize complex formulations
- How to identify core workflows: experiment design, material tracking, calculations, and visualization
- How integration reduces workload, accelerates R&D, and improves sustainability

This is to acknowledge that

Battery centric workflows for next-generation battery developments

July 28, 2026

Key learning objectives:

- Discover 4 battery-centric workflows, from non-destructive to destructive approaches
- Learn how to handle air-sensitive materials connecting glovebox and FE-SEM (field emission scanning electron microscopes)
- Explore XRM as a non-destructive technique for 3D multiscale characterization of a range of battery materials from intact cells to recyclable black mass
